

2018-04-25 Meeting notes

Date

25 Apr 2018

Attendees

- Mary Hodder
- Doc Searls
- Jim
- Colin Wallis
- Mark Lizar

Review and update:

- Reviewed IIW session led by Andrew on the Thursday where they talked about doing a greasemonkey like consent thing that would come down into your browser and present your own terms and consent
 - A hack session will happen tomorrow at MIT about this – maybe make our own cookie that would do all this
 - <https://blogs.harvard.edu/vrm/2018/04/18/gdpr-hack-day-at-mit/>
 - <http://customercommons.org/2018/04/22/gdpr/>
 - <https://mitmedialab.github.io/Consent-HackDay/>
- IEEE - what is it and why work with them?
 - open source the work?
- WC3 - Mark Lizar met with them last week around building a privacy taxonomy
 - Jim is also working on this with them and so Mark and Jim should collaborate
