Notes & Minutes

Discussion

Richard has reviewed in part and plans to submit a separate set of comments.

Continued use of bulleted lists - if the lists convey requirements, the implementer or the reviewer or the assessor needs to be able to refer to the requirements. Richard has suggested numbers instead of bullets, so that requirements could be uniquely identified. Scott will include this among the recommended IAWG comments as well - uniqueness of requirements clauses is great assistance to implementers and assessors alike.
