Discussion

Discussion of NISTIR 8062, we found much of the content made sense but did not necessarily use terminology consistent with privacy engineering we were familiar with. Regarding the privacy objectives, predictability seems to be a notion of trust that a service will do what they say, while the other two seem to be related to disclosing how private data will be collected/disseminated/used. After much discussion of objectives, any guidance on how to achieve the objectives is left as future work. Next step, Ken and Scott to discuss further via email and develop comments on behalf of IAWG.

Scott will perform a final review of Ken's draft of potential upgrades to the SAC prior to submission to the ARB.
