Please take a look, all comments/contributions welcomed! There original report is attached to the confluence page

Delegation Use Cases

- We reviewed user-stories from the pp2pi group
 - They are reviewing these user-stories from many aspects: privacy, harms, policy, legal, technical
 - there are a few patient personas such as: Adolescent, Adult, Parent, Geriatric
 - Reviewed the Adolescent persona around reproductive health and the privacy and harm risks created through proxy access
 - Risks both from patientproxy and proxypatient
- How can UMA address? How can delegation address? What can't be handled technically?
 - delegated administration can solve many, but not all, of the challenges. resource rights constrained by relationships
 - can we understand the different states that the data moves through? how do these states change and new data is added /accessed?
 - the discrete data elements needs appropriate RO and sensitivity tagging – before access by anyone...
 - How far does UMA standard go, and what needs to go beyond into impl/profile?
